Scott Anderson Romps in Player's Choice

HBPA President and longtime owner has been playing horses for three decades

Third-generation horseplayer and Manitoba HBPA president Scott Anderson won the Player's Choice

Handicapping Tournament last Saturday by a huge margin, and he didn't even need his final pick to win.

Even more impressive was that he went winless on his first six selections.

It was the second win in the tourney for Anderson, who built his bankroll to $125.90 to take home the trophy and $1,000. Anderson's total was $31.20 more than his nearest rival, runner-up Alex Chubinski ($94.70), followed by Bryan Metcalfe ($82.20), Janet Gray ($81.80), and Glen Gray ($76.40), in what turned out to be another tough tournament day for longshots.

Anderson secured his victory with back-to-back longshots in races eight and nine at Gulfstream Park. He hit Little Vic ($18.30, $9.60, $5.00) in the eighth race and Dashman ($39.10, $17.90, $10.00) in the ninth, later discovering he still had one bet left to make - though he didn't need it. No one was closing in on him.

Six picks into the tournament, the 54-year-old livestock dealer from Lorette, Manitoba hadn't found a winner. "I just went swinging for the fences," said Anderson, and his company-line analysis of Little Vic proved perfect. "He just got beat by White Abarrio in his previous race. So I thought, that's a pretty nice horse, and these horses aren't as good as that." And they weren't.

When Dashman loaded into the gate at 35-1, Anderson had second thoughts. "I thought I must be a fool to be betting a 35-1 shot." But he trusted the connections of trainer Brian Lynch and jockey Florent Geroux, the price dropped to 19-1 by post time, and Anderson's faith was rewarded when Dashman got a perfect trip, laying off two duelers before taking command in the stretch.

Horse racing runs deep in Anderson's blood. His father Barry serves on the Manitoba Jockey Club board, and their family has campaigned horses for three generations in Manitoba. Old photographs in the family collection show their runners winning at Whittier Park and Polo Park.

Anderson learned to handicap as a teenager, making two-dollar bets with handicapping friends Bob Pistawka and Randy Smith. Like many young racing fans in the 1980s, he scoured the grounds at the track looking for discarded tickets. "My biggest win was $2,250 on a Pick-4 ticket that I found," he said. "I found it after the first leg, and it was actually two live tickets. I got beat in a photo or I would have had it twice."

Anderson's tournament success comes from a straightforward philosophy: "Go with your heart," he said. "Don't watch the odds. And don't be sucked into betting favourites." He relies mainly on high percentage trainers, good riders, and trip handicapping. "If there's lots of speed in the race and you've got a closer, especially if it's a bit of a longshot, that's probably the right play."

While browsing his collection of handicapping books, Anderson recently found wisdom in an unexpected source, a 1958 volume called "Handicapping to Win" by Herbert Stone. "There were no speed figures back then," said Anderson. "Just chapters on class, turn of foot, things like that." The timeless importance of turn of foot - a horse's ability to accelerate quickly - remains as crucial to winning today as it was 65 years ago.

This wasn't Anderson's first big score in tournament play. Twenty-five years ago, he was in contention during a two-day tournament at Assiniboia Downs when duty called. "I had to go play hockey, so I left my father-in-law in charge to make my bets," he said. "He played a horse named Keeper Hill, who went off at 99-1, with all the money I had left in my account." The horse won Anderson the tournament, and the first prize included a trip to the Florida Derby.

These days, Anderson operates Winnipeg Livestock Sales in Rosser, just down the road from the track. He has campaigned horses at the Downs for decades, including hardknocking runners like Stevie Mack and the enigmatic Orange Theory, who never won at Assiniboia Downs, but was victorious in a $50,000 stakes race in Alberta and also placed second in a $100,000 stakes race there. He'll have two horses at the Downs this year with his partners.

Anderson has been playing in the latest rendition of the handicapping tournament, which takes place online using an HPiBet.com account, for the past three years. Tournament coordinator Sheri Glendinning earns high praise from Anderson for providing all the necessary past performances and program information. "She does an exceptional job," he said. "One hundred percent."

The next Player's Choice Handicapping Tournament is scheduled for February 22nd. As for the $1,000 winner's share from Saturday's tournament? "It's already in my top drawer," Anderson laughed. "I'll just keep chiseling away at it until it's gone." Or until he wins...

Again.

Manitoba Stallion Profiles

Ami's Holiday, Following Sea

Today we begin profiling Manitoba stallions that have registered for the lucrative stallion and breeding programs offered by CTHS Manitoba. We'll start with Ami's Holiday and Following Sea, both graded stakes winners, and one who is already a proven sire. There will be an excellent selection of stallions to choose from this spring for Manitoba mare owners!

Manitoba Stallion Profile: Ami's Holiday (Harlan's Holiday-Victorious Amy by Victory Gallop)

Ami's Holiday (Harlan's Holiday-Victorious Amy by Victory Gallop)

A multiple Black Type Graded stakes winner on all-weather and turf and graded stakes placed on dirt, Ami's Holiday offers Manitoba breeders access to a prolific sire line.

By sire of sires Harlan's Holiday, whose son Into Mischief is the six-time reigning Champion General Sire in North America with progeny including Kentucky Derby (G1) winner Authentic and Breeders' Cup Juvenile (G1) winner Citizen Bull, Ami's Holiday brings significant sire power to Manitoba.

Harlan's Holiday sired 93 black-type winners including champion and Breeders' Cup Juvenile (G1) winner Shanghai Bobby. On the dam side, Ami's Holiday is out of stakes winner Victorious Ami, making him a half-brother to Canadian champion Ami's Mesa, who earned $706,148 and placed second in the Breeders' Cup Filly & Mare Sprint (G1).

On the track, Ami's Holiday proved both versatile and tough, earning $817,773 while competing at the highest levels in Canada. His signature victories came in the Grey Stakes (G3) at two and the 12-furlong Breeders' Stakes on turf at three. He also finished second in the Queen's Plate, third in the Prince of Wales Stakes, and hit the board in multiple graded stakes including the Ontario Derby (G3), and Ben Ali Stakes (G3) at Keeneland.

From 102 foals to date, Ami's Holiday has sired 43 winners (42%) and two black-type winners plus five black-type placed runners from 64 starters. His progeny have earned over $3.1 million, averaging nearly $50,000 per starter. His top performer H C Holiday ($267,742) placed in both the Queen's Plate and Plate Trial Stakes, while stakes winners Jim's Hope and Bossy Holiday have found success in Ontario-restricted company.

Manitoba Stallion Profile: Following Sea
(Runhappy-Quick Flip by Speightstown)

Grade 2 winner Following Sea brings high-level racing credentials to Manitoba for the 2025 breeding season.

An $855,620 earner, Following Sea combines elite bloodlines with proven Grade 1 class. The son of champion sprinter Runhappy earned his signature victory in the 2021 Vosburgh Stakes (G2) at Belmont Park, while also placing in four Grade 1 events including the Haskell Stakes, Cigar Mile, Breeders' Cup Sprint, and H. Allen Jerkens Memorial.

"Following Sea is great looking and an outstanding mover," said trainer Todd Pletcher. "He had tons of speed."

Following Sea's sire Runhappy was one of the most brilliant sprinters of his generation, setting a track record of 1:08.58 in winning the 2015 Breeders' Cup Sprint (G1) at Keeneland. The Eclipse Award-winning sprinter also captured the King's Bishop Stakes (G1) and Malibu Stakes (G1) during a career that saw him earn $1,496,250 without ever racing on Lasix.

Following Sea represents a significant addition to the Western Canadian stallion ranks. "This is an incredible stallion prospect to stand in Manitoba," noted Derek MacKenzie of Vinery Sales. "I would expect mares to travel within Manitoba to him, and for breeders to send mares from other Western provinces and most likely some from Ontario and the USA as well."

Following Sea stands at Rivard Stables in St. Eustache, Manitoba. For breeding information and bookings, contact Garry Naherniak at (204) 821-5594.

Top NFL Picks by TravyFootball Conference Recap

Eagles Over Commanders: Clearly, nobody on the Commanders football team reads my weekly football articles because, for the past few weeks, I couldn't stress enough how important it is not to turn the ball over. It was pretty foreshadowing from the start that Washington was going to be in trouble when they had to convert two fourth downs on their first drive and only settled for a field goal. How did the Eagles respond? Just a casual 60-yard touchdown run by Saquon Barkley on their first play. At that point, I knew the game was already over.

The Commanders' defence had absolutely no answer for the Eagles' offence, and then the turnovers started happening. In the end, Philly had seven total rushing touchdowns and crushed Washington 55-23. The last time any conference championship team scored at least 50 points was the 1990 Buffalo Bills.

I will give kudos to Washington for having a good season, considering they were the second-worst team in the league a year ago, and their future looks pretty bright with Jayden Daniels at the helm.

Chiefs Over Bills: How does that old saying go? "The more things change, the more they stay the same"—because Patrick Mahomes always wins in the end. Something like that.

Maybe I got a few of the words wrong, but my point still stands.

This was supposed to be the year that one of these other QBs was finally going to dethrone the king, but after all was said and done, the Chiefs stood tall, and their quest to complete the three-peat is in its final step.

This game started out rough for Josh Allen. On the first drive, he threw two balls that really should have been interceptions. After punting the ball to Kansas City, they marched 90 yards down the field for a touchdown to open the scoring. From that point on, it was pretty evenly matched, with both teams exchanging touchdowns and field goals, but Buffalo failing to convert on fourth down (depending on who you ask) and missing their two-point attempts made the difference.

They still had a chance on a fourth down where Allen had to heave the ball in desperation due to having two defenders in his face right off the snap, but Dalton Kincaid couldn't haul it in. I know everyone—or at least most people—can't stand the Chiefs for a multitude of reasons, but I, for one, appreciate how they have managed to stay dominant for such a long period. Not since the 2000s Patriots has there been a team to make it to the Super Bowl on a regular basis.

Last Week: 2-0

Playoffs Overall: 7-1

The $265,000 Holy Bull Stakes (G3) this Saturday at Gulfstream Park is a must-watch Kentucky Derby prep that offers qualifying points for the 151st Derby to the top five finishers, distributed on a 20-10-6-4-2 basis. This race has been an important prep through the years, not only in producing Kentucky Derby winners including Go for Gin in 1994, Funny Cide in 2003, and Barbaro in 2006, but other stars of the sport such as White Abarrio, the 2022 victor who won last weekend's Pegasus World Cup Invitational Stakes.
